The signed outline also states that 144 hours of related instruction are required for each apprentice for each year. Retain that provision when preparing the individual delivery schedule; the occupation total does not replace the annual requirement. These allocations are instructional requirements, not automatically credited learner hours.

The complete RTI plan must account for 300 verified instructional hours. Follow the assigned esthetics theory lessons and workbook alongside supervised practical instruction. An introductory certificate or unlinked workbook does not substitute for the complete RTI plan.

Occupational competency areas

The registered work-process schedule contains 20 individual competencies covering work-area and equipment processing; cleansing and product application; permitted extractions, facial treatments, and hair removal; skin observation and product selection; client education and medical referral; makeup instruction; demonstrations and hygiene education; professional development; permitted massage; client records; retailing; and permitted lash/brow services.

The individual registered competency entries govern verification. A topic appearing in the work-process schedule does not authorize a procedure beyond the applicable state scope, product directions, or supervisor's authority. Practical services require qualified supervision and appropriate training conditions.

Completion evidence

- All 20 individual registered competencies verified by authorized personnel.
- 300 documented RTI hours satisfying the governing standard.
- Signed agreements, qualified supervision, and host-site records.
- Required assessments and observed practical performance.
- Applicable employer wage-progression evidence.

Wages follow the applicable registered employer wage schedule and governing requirements. Additional certificates are documented separately when actually earned.

Instruction, assessment, and records

Follow the assigned LMS lesson sequence and workbook. Complete each lesson's knowledge checks at the passing score shown in the LMS. Practice the corresponding skill under qualified supervision and retain the instructor's feedback and practical evidence.

Record RTI, supervised on-the-job learning, and practical competency verification separately. Video length, a workbook answer, attendance, or a passed quiz alone does not establish all required RTI hours or practical mastery. Credit requires the applicable documented instruction and verification.

Use the signed training agreement and approved individual schedule for pacing, required materials, attendance, make-up work, and payment terms. Apprenticeship tuition is self-pay unless the exact program has a separately documented authorized payment source.

Completion of Elevate instruction does not itself issue a state license. The licensing authority determines eligibility and any additional requirements. This syllabus does not establish Indiana secondary CTE course equivalency or funding approval.
